

The first teaser trailer for Man Of Steel hit yesterday, and probably took a few people by surprise. In the below vid Charles Rovin recognizes that it may not have been what many fans were expecting, but that it reflects that they are doing something different, and bringing us a Superman we have never seen before. He also compares Superman to Batman, and says they really wanted to make this character with extraordinary powers relatable, and "emotionally compelling to people".. Superman takes to the skies once more as acclaimed actor Henry Cavill (The Tudors, Immortals) dons the suit, cape and S-shield of the MAN OF STEEL. With an all-star cast that includes Diane Lane and Kevin Costner as John and Martha Kent, Clark's earthbound parents; Oscar® winner Russell Crowe as Superman's Kryptonian father Jor-El; The Fighter's Amy Adams as intrepid Daily Planet reporter Lois Lane; The Matrix's Laurence Fishburne as editor Perry

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=64334>