

Talking to Newsarama, producer of the upcoming Green Lantern: The Animated Series Giancarlo Volpe has revealed a ton of new details about the show. There's much, much more to be found over at the site (including how much of the series will be set in space) by clicking on the link below. Green Lantern: The Animated Series will debut this coming Friday at 7 pm on Cartoon Network. On The Inclusion Of The Red Lanterns In The Upcoming Series: I guess that partially had something to do with the fact that Geoff Johns is so involved with DC creative right now. When I was brought on for this project, it was already sort of decided that it would be Red Lanterns, but I wouldn't be if surprised if Geoff maybe made that suggestion. I actually really kind of believe in keeping it modern and keeping it current. If we would have gotten a

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=49517&t=Producer_Giancarlo_Volpe_Talks_In_Detail_About_iGreen_Lantern_The_Animated_Series