

A couple months ago, Milla Jovovich (who plays 'Alice' in the hit film franchise Resident Evil) tweeted that a teaser trailer for the fifth installment of the series, Retribution, was being shot and was aimed at a Christmas release. Well, December went and no sign of the trailer. But now, Jovovich has tweeted that she spoke with director Paul W.S. Anderson, who said that the first trailer for the film (recently retitled Re5ident Evil: Retribution) is now slated to be released next week on January 18th, and will be attached to Underworld :Awakening in 3D two days later (both films are Screen Gems/Sony Pictures productions, so this shouldn't come as a surprise). So I jst asked paul and he said 4 SURE the teaser 4 "RE:Retribution" is coming out on the 18th of jan! I'm sure it will b online. Then on the 20th it comes out in 3D in front
