

I posted the same poll in two different articles yesterday, both of which featured Lauren Shuler Donner discussing the chances of Ryan Reynolds still playing the Merc with a Mouth. You see, since the commercial and critical failure of Green Lantern, many in Hollywood seem to be doubting the actors leading man status, despite the fact he was one of the few elements of the DC adaptation that was unanimously liked. I asked you guys whether or not you still want to see him play Deadpool, and the answer was a nearly unanimous YES! While work on the movie has seemingly slowed right down since Tim Miller was announced as director, I for one am still keeping my fingers crossed to see this movie sooner rather than later...
