

With The Amazing Spider-Man set to be released next July, and Man of Steel a little under a year after that, it's a very exciting time to be a comic book fan. However, these two iconic superheroes have both undergone something of a makeover for their respective movies. While they're still instantly recognizable, Spider-Man has donned a pair of sneakers, lost his belt and instead has a fairly drastically different looking design of the classic red and blue. Superman meanwhile has lost his red trunks, the symbol on his cape and has an all round darker, slightly more alien look. The question I asked you guys was which of the new interpretations you like most, and there was a very clear winner... STARRING: Henry Cavill as Clark Kent/Superman Amy Adams as Lois Lane Kevin Costner as Jonathan Kent Diane Lane as Martha Kent Michael Shannon as Zod RELEASE DATE: June 14th, 2013.
