

"With a weak script, uneven CG work, and a Nic Cage performance so predictably loony its no longer amusing, Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance aims to be trashy fun but ends up as plain trash." That's the critic consensus over at Rotten Tomatoes where the movie currently sits with a lowly 14% approval rating based on 86 reviews. Simply put, Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance is a critical and commercial flop; currently sitting at sixth place in the US box office with a $37.8M cume. However, it would appear that you guys were a little more forgiving of the Neveland/Taylor helmed Marvel Comics adaptation as over 43% of you decided that it perhaps wasn't all that bad. Check out the results below and sound off with your thoughts in the usual place.
