

It's no real surprise that Iron Man will be getting a new suit of armour in Shane Black's Iron Man 3 (Marvel wouldn't sell many toys if it was the exact same one as in The Avengers!), especially as the film will adapt the Warren Ellis and Adi Granov "Extremis" storyline. The suit which will seemingly use that technology was unveiled on the floor of the San Diego Comic-Con on Saturday, and after we asked you what you thought of the primarily golden suit, the results were very mixed. However, rather than judging a book by its cover so to speak, the majority of you decided that you need to wait until seeing it in action before making a final decision. Check out the results below and sound off with your thoughts in the usual place! STARRING: Robert Downey Jr. as Tony Stark/Iron Man Ben Kingsley as The Mandarin Gwyneth Paltrow as Pepper Potts Don Cheadle
