

The winner is Mathew Vaughn's X-Men: First Class with 1,207 Votes (48.59%). I would agree with this. In fact I think it's probably the best CBM we have had in the last few years period. But not far behind with 901 Votes (36.27%) was Bryan Singer's second X-Men, also one of the best we have seen imo. Kind of surprisingly there wasn't too much between the first X-Men (174 Votes/7.00%) and the much maligned X-Men Origins: Wolverine (125 Votes/5.03%). In last place was Brett Ratner's X-Men: The Last Stand. I think that order is pretty spot on myself. Although both very flawed, I found Wolverine to be more compelling than X3. By TwitterButtons.com
