

Ant-Man is currently expected to be released in 2014, and while rumour has it that we'll see Scott Lang behind the mask in the film (possibly based on the, "To Steal An Ant-Man" story) it definitely seems as if you guys want a certain Ultron creating, wife-beating hero to make his debut on the big screen. It's understandable, especially as Hank Pym is both a founding Avenger and would likely guarantee the introduction of The Wasp. In fact, there's no reason why both he and Lang's Ant-Man can't play a role in the movie, although how do you then decide which of them appears in a follow up to Marvel's The Avengers?! We'll have to wait and see. For now, check out the results below and sound off with your thoughts in the usual place!
