

Okay, I never really do reviews but this ones a biggie, one like many of you have been looking forward to the most this year. Well this and Green Lantern of course. Saying that, I don't do reviews much, but I did do a Manga one last night K-20: Legend of The Black Mask. Check it out when you have the time, its down the main page. Okay back to Thor... First off, I did want to see and was planning to see Thor in 2D but there was no early showing for that so I went to a 3D showing. Why, is because I still don't think Hollywood has totally mastered the 3D effects on the big screen, its like your watching a live-action pop-up book if get what I mean and wearing the glasses is annoying. Still, it didn't ruining my viewing or enjoyment of the comic book motion picture.
