

In the pantheon of heroes, Superman is considered by most to be the greatest hero of all. His powers make him one of if not the most powerful individual in the universe. Above all else is his strict adherence to his high moral code. Superman's values outshine his abilities in most cases.

This is exactly what "Superman Vs. The Elite" is about. The movie is based on Action Comics #775 by writer Joe Kelly and artists Doug Mahnke and Lee Bermejo. The comic like the movie focuses on Superman's effectiveness as a super hero when a new group of super powerful crusaders, known as "The Elite," appear on the scene. As super heroes, the Elite know no bounds, and are more than willing to kill, even on a massive scale, to stop villainy — putting them on a collision course with the ever-ethical and decidedly non-lethal
