

Talking to UGO, the popular director was quizzed about his friend Shane Black now being the one to helm a big superhero movie, and shared both his thoughts on that as well as the promise of helping out if necessary! There's quite a bit more to this interview, so be sure to click on the link below to head on over to the site! You have had a long time working relationship with Shane Black, obviously he wrote Lethal Weapon, and now has the reins on Iron Man 3, so I don't know how often the two of you speak, but as someone who can perhaps work as a go-between, do you have any message you'd like to give Shane Black - as an elder statesman with regards to superhero films, since Mr. Black is about to direct his first one? I had lunch with Shane the day he got the message
