

Having not heard anything from Sigourney Weaver in regards to the upcoming prequel to Alien that is titled Prometheus, fans have been curious just to exactly how she felt about the new franchise. She offered up praise for director Ridley Scott and their work together on the Alien franchise saying, ""We worked very hard together, and I certainly credit him in making Ripley an everyman character, not just a damsel in distress, but a character who is not giving up." When talking about Prometheus she said her and the people over at Fox disagreed on what to do with a next film. She also said that Scott took some of her suggestions in regarding the prequel. "Fox and I disagreed on how the franchise should continue. But I'm glad it's Ridley Scott doing it, and I'll be as curious as anyone, or maybe more curious, to see it. I think he took

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=53161&t=Ridely_Scott_Took_Suggestions_From_Sigourney_Weaver_For_PROMETHEUS