

Fans of original Firestorm Ronnie Raymond were dealt a hard blow in season 2 of The Flash, when it was revealed that the character sacrificed his life to destroy the singularity that threatened to consume Central City. Ronnie returned later in the season, though it was an evil version of the character from Earth-2 - dubbed Deathstorm - who served the central villain, Zoom. This version of Ronnie was also killed off in the same episode. Fans of the show have held out hope that Ronnie survived the closing of the singularity, but during an interview at Heroes and Villians Fan Fest in Atlanta, Georgia, actor Robbie Amell seemingly confirmed that the Earth-1 incarnation is deceased. "Well the nice thing is when you're dead in that universe there is always another Earth, but I think that version [Earth-1] of Ronnie is dead because he sacrificed himself to save the city, but you know there is always Earth-3, Earth-4, Earth-5..." Amell was also asked

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/the_flash/robbie-amell-on-whether-original-firestorm-ronnie-raymond-will-return-a147051