

Will this be Robert Downey Jr.'s final Iron Man movie? It's the last one he's contracted to do with Marvel Studios (bet they're regretting that cameo in The Incredible Hulk now), but after the success of The Avengers (which featured both the actor and character at the forefront of marketing) it's hard to imagine that this will truly be his last outing as the Armoured Avenger. The threequel is helmed by Shane Black and sees Iron Man take on both the threat of Extremis and the Mandarin, while Rhodey dons the Iron Patriot suit for reasons currently unknown. Regardless, thanks to The Comics Factory (and our own @Marvel_Freshman) , we have this new batch of set photos from Dania Beach in Florida. As you can see, there's nothing too revealing here, but with less than two weeks to go until the release of the first theatrical trailer, it should keep us

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=68491>