

We are two episodes into the mid-season return of The Walking Dead and shows producers are building tensions between Shane and Rick. Between the incident with Hershel's barn and Lori being pregnant there has been no love lost between these two characters. Comic creator and executive producer Robert Kirkman did a phone interview with MTV and said that it will all come to a head in this weeks episode 18 Miles Out. "In the very next episode, we're going to see some explosive interactions between those two men. We've been building to quite a bit of stuff this entire season, and it's all coming to a head. The fact that Lori's pregnant and nobody knows who the father is, these two are constantly butting heads over leadership and what's best for the group... it's really putting Rick and Shane at an impasse," said Kirkman. Shane's decent down a darker path and

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=55261&t=Robert_Kirkman_Teases_Big_Shane_And_Rick_Confrontation_On_THE_WALKING_DEAD