

There was a rumor making the rounds that the Twilight star would move from one successful teen-novel series to another by starring in Hunger Games: Catching Fire. While I was initially skeptical, it seems that the rumor was indeed based on fact. "I was kind of curious for a second. So I called my agent," Pattinson, 26, told USA Today. My agent was like, 'No,' (laughs). (My agent) was like no one's going to offer you that part... I was like, thanks for the reassurance." The Hunger Games was a fairly good movie and I can't say that I know what someone like Pattinson could bring to the film that it doesn't already have. Still, it's interesting to see what type of roles he's going after post Twilight. Running Time: 2 hrs 22 min Release Date: 23 March 2012 (USA) MPAA Rating: PG-13 for intense violent thematic material

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=60554>