

Yeah, nothing much here. I have no idea what to expect, so I'll just wait and see. Coming Soon has a little more info about the release date: "We were handed some promo art and a sales sheet for MGM's RoboCop today at the Licensing International Expo in Las Vegas. The sales sheet says that the studio is targeting a 2013 release for the film, which will be directed by Jose Padilha." Are you excited about the new RoboCop film? Share your thoughts below.
