

Unless you've been living under a rock, you already know that Rogue One: A Star Wars Story hits theaters later this week. If you've seen the original Star Wars: A New Hope, which I'm assuming you probably HAVE, or seen the one of the trailers or TV spots that have been released, of which there have been several, you probably have a handle on what to expect from the film, right? Wrong! OK, you're not COMPLETELY wrong. Yes the film is a prequel to Episode IV/A New Hope and it involves the mission to retrieve the plans for the infamous Death Star. Yes there are cameos and appearances by various characters from the other films. Yes, you probably have a VERY good idea of how the film ends. I'm assuming you think you know all of that because I did when I walked into the theater. I'm a pretty big Star Wars fan and fell I have a pretty good grasp on most

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/scifi_movies/star_wars/rogue-one-a-star-wars-story-the-best-star-wars-movie-to-a147486