

As I was on my way home from seeing Green Lantern a friend of mine txt me to ask how it was. I replied "It was ok, not quite as bad as I was expecting" or some such, and he replied; "So it was shite then?". I laughed because he is such a miserable git and then thought about it. Is there any room for mediocrity in the world of the big budget, special effects driven "blockbuster"? Any real grey area? Is a movie like Green Lantern, despite having some redeeming features, destined to be lumped in with the forgettable rubbish simply because it failed to impress as much as it's Summer competition? I'll start out the review by saying that although GL is pretty bad at times, I don't think it's QUITE as bad as some of the reviews you may have read suggest it is. The thing is that

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorreviews/news/?a=39810&t=Ror_Reviews_iGreen_Lanterni