

I'll start by saying that although I love this movie, I am not one of these people that believes it is the be all and end all, or that it is infallible. What Nolan and co do right renders what they do wrong pretty insignificant imo, but that doesn't mean the movie doesn't have it's share of problems - nor that I won't be discussing them. I won't, however, be going into the actual plot in too much detail as I'm fairly certain we all know the story. I'm also not going to be discussing the differences between the movie and the comics, how faithful it is etc. These things vary in how annoyed they make people, if they even bother em at all so I feel it's something best debated in the comments section. Like all CBMs not based on a specific graphic novel or story arc, TDK is a
