

Last night the news broke that Warner Bros. were planning to re-team with Suicide Squad director David Ayer for a spinoff featuring Margot Robbie's Harley Quinn, which will be known as Gotham City Sirens. In the comic of the same name Miss Quinzel teams up with Catwoman and Poison Ivy, and we might just have an idea which actress is in the frame to play the latter. Bleeding Cool reports that Megan Fox (TMNT, Transformers, New Girl) has ordered some very specific comic book issues to her Warner Bros. address: Harley Quinn #14, #17, and #38, which all explore Poison Ivy's relationship with Harley. How would they know this? No idea - but their little birds have come whispering with some solid information in the past. This alone wouldn't seem like a whole lot to go on anyway, but Fox is a big comic book fan who has expressed interest in playing Ivy in the past, so there's a pretty good chance that

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/suicide\_squad/rumor-could-tmnts-megan-fox-be-circling-the-poison-ivy-role-in-a147521