

We'll keep these as rumors for now but bleedingcool.com has received some rather interesting tips regarding Thor 2 and DC's Lobo--- Bleeding Cool was told recently that The Rock is going to play Lobo in Brad Peyton's upcoming film of the DC comics. An untested, unknown source opened up correspondence with us, and told us a tale of "a Hollywood party" at which Mr. Rock was a guest, and told some fellow partiers that he was going to take the Lobo role. But, as I said, the source was untested, so I went looking for corroboration in better known quarters. The story sounded a little unlikely, though so many of the true ones do. Either way, I wanted to check it out before passing it on. Speaking to some people who may have, perhaps, had some good info on the Lobo situation, I connected to a friend of the site who was able to
