

According to The Wrap, Gosling is in early talks for the role but may not be able to seal the deal because of his commitment to Logan's Run.. Ryan Gosling is in talks to star in Disney's "The Lone Ranger," TheWrap has learned. It's early, and Gosling's schedule might not permit him to take the role of the Lone Ranger opposite Johnny Depp as Tonto. Gosling is starring as Logan in "Logan's Run" which is scheduled to begin production this fall. Gosling was in talks to star as The Green Lantern at one point, and is long overdue a big movie of this type in many people's eyes. He has recently won acclaim for his performance in Blue Valentine, and was nominated for a best actort Oscar for his work in Half Nelson back in 2006. Article image courtesy of Screen Rant
