

"Do you consider Deadpool the Green Lantern of good movies?" That's just one of many cheap shots "Gordon Reynolds" takes at his brother Ryan in the hilarious video below, and this accolade is pretty much the icing on the cake in a year which has been very good for the actor. After a string of failures, Deadpool has kick started a well deserved comeback for the star which looks set to continue into 2017 and the eventual Deadpool sequel (which will hopefully be with us by 2018 at the very latest). You can hear from Reynolds on Tim Miller's recent departure by clicking here, but it's interesting to note that the actor praises the filmmaker in the video below. Regardless of their creative differences, he's clearly grateful to Miller for helping make Deadpool a reality, though it will be fun to see who follows in his footsteps. Be sure to watch the video right until the end as another actor makes an

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/deadpool/ryan-reynolds-gets-trolled-about-deadpool-and-green-lantern-by-twin-a146788>