

Via Taylor Swift's Instagram, the pop singer confirmed that she wasn't just wearing any ol' Deadpool costume. The "Bad Blood" singer was able to borrow the actual Deadpool costume from actor Ryan Reynolds. Of course, the sequel was recently in the news this week, with Tim Miller departing the project over creative differences with Reynolds. There are currently conflicting reports regarding the status of David Leitch (John Wick), who's said to be in the running or to actually have the gig, depending on which Hollywood trade you prefer reading. Other directors in the mix are reportedly Magnus Martens (Luke Cage) and Drew Goddard (Daredevil, The Cabin in the Woods). Casting for Domino is also in the way with a number of young Hollywood actresses testing including Kelly Rohrbach, Eve Hewson, Ruby Rose, Mackenzie Davis, Lizzy Caplan, Mary Elizabeth Winstead, Sienna Miller, Sofia Boutella, Stephanie Sigman and Sylvia Hoeks.

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/deadpool/ryan-reynolds-let-taylor-swift-borrow-the-real-deadpool-costume-for-a146443>