

Deadpool has been in development for years and a lot of fans are wondering if the film ever going to happen. At a press junket for Green Lantern Ryan Reynolds talked about his love for the character and explained that the film is STILL in development. Said Reynolds: "Growing up, I read a bit of X-Men stuff and I loved Deadpool. You know, my brother introduced me to Deadpool and that was a character I loved, but beyond that I didn't know that much about comics. Those are the ones I kind of stuck to." "Deadpool is a character that I love and I got a great opportunity to play him in more of ancillary sense in a film, which was great because it allowed me to jump in and play him, but then not be committed to too much beyond that. But I do have that film that's in development

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=39062&t=Ryan_Reynolds_Talks_About_iDeadpooli