

As we already reported, The Clone Wars cartoon series will be bringing back fan favorite Sith Lord Darth Maul after he was sliced in two by Obi Wan Kenobi at the end of The Phantom Menace. Now Nuke The Fridge have word on who will be providing the voice for the character, none other than Starkiller himself Sam Witwer. The actor has already done some voice work for the series and will be well known to CBMers having starred in shows such as Smallville, Battlestar Galactica, Dark Angel and Being Human. It's not clear when exactly Maul will be making his debut on the show but we will keep you posted with any updates that come out way.
