

As most of you know, the character of Nick Fury was a white man in the comics until the Ultimate Marvel Universe, where he was changed to be an African-American, with his look and personality tailored after actor Samuel L. Jackson with the actor's permission. Jackson portrays Nick Fury in the 2008 film Iron Man and reprised the role in the sequel, and in Captain America: The First Avenger. He also appears uncredited as Fury in Thor, and is set to appear as in the 2012 film The Avengers. Here is the actual quote from Ebony Magazine: "I voted for Barack because he was black. 'Cuz that's why other folks vote for other people — because they look like them," Jackson said. "That's American politics, pure and simple. [Obama's] message didn't mean shit to me. In the end, he's a politician. I just hoped he would do some of what he said he

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/powergirlspalace/news/?a=54663&:t=Samuel L Jackson is a Racist So Why Did We Change the Color of Nick Fury Again>