

In last week's episode, Lori Grimes revealed to her husband Rick that she was pregnant and, to fans surprise, that she had been intimate with Shane during his absence. While it seems that Rick took the news well enough, TV Guide asked the actress if fans should expect any change in their relationship which she responded, "Andy and I have been playing with the idea for a while that Rick has known for a long time and it was a test of whether or not Lori would be honest with him and when and why. It actually opens the door for things to begin to heal for them. He deeply needed to hear her say that she thought he was gone. She wasn't secretly burning a candle for Shane for the last eight years of their marriage." When asked if Lori was possibly lying for Rick and if she really does have

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/TheWatchtower/news/?a=50340&t=Sarah_Wayne_Callies_Discusses_Loris_Pregnancy_Her_Triangle_With_Rick_Shane