

Here are the first two shots of the "The Dark Knight Rises" shoot in Jodhpur, India. The photo looks like it was taken from the window of a moving train and shows the crew setting up a green screen for the shoot, which took place today. If you take a close look, it seems like there is a possibility of the Lazarus pit appearing in Chris Nolan's upcoming final Batman film. Does that mean, that we will see more, than just a flashback of Ra's al Ghul? The Lazarus Pit is mythical vats of arcane chemicals in the DC comics universe. The most common user of the pit is Ra's al Ghul. Ra's al Ghul accidentally discovered the first Lazarus Pit as a cure for the dying son of a sultan he worked for. The Pit had a terrible side effect, however; it turned the Prince temporarily insane, leading to him

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/CoastToCoastStation/news/?a=36732&t=SCOOP_First_Set_Photos_From_iThe_Dark_Knight_Risesi_--_Shows_The_Lazarus_Pit