

It's not often that we feature a story here on CBM where the people we're talking about take the time to check out what you guys are saying or directly respond to a rumour or article. Not too long ago, Scott Snyder (writer of DC's Batman) decided to get involved with a heated debate about a conversation he had with Rob Liefeld, but it's a rare occurrence. Well, thanks to Twitter, some actors are more in touch with their fans with others, and Scott Porter decided to respond to the article we posted earlier today in which he expressed his interest in playing 'Nova' in Marvel Studios' Guardians of the Galaxy. Click HERE to check out the link in that first Tweet. It leads to a podcast that Scott Porter took part in, proving once and for all that he is - like the rest of us here - a REAL comic

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=67536>