

Set several years after the first film finds Johnny Blaze in self-imposed exile from the world. Blaze has become a tormented soul, convinced that his powers are a curse. Former stuntman Blaze is then approached by Moreau, a member of the monastic order of Michael, the warrior angel. Moreau seeks a protector for a mother and son duo who are being pursued by a figure named Roarke – a fellow with a detailed knowledge of the Ghost Rider and his different identities over the centuries. Even though there is still nothing on the site besides the logo, you can check it out by clicking the image below. I'm guessing the official teaser should be online soon. Starring Nicolas Cage, Idris Elba, Johnny Whitworth and Ciarán Hinds, Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance is set to hit theatres on February 17, 2012!
