

At today's Marvel TV panel at Comic-Con, Jeph Loeb announced that the Hulk will star in his own animated team series known as Hulk And The Agents Of S.M.A.S.H.. Hulk will team up with Red Hulk (Rulk), She-Hulk and A-Bomb. IGN has some details about the announcement, as well as a (low-res) promo image... Marvel TV boss Jeph Loeb was wowing the crowd today with new announcements on both the live-action and animated front. Case in point: The Hulk is getting a new animated series. A team show! It will be called Hulk and the Agents of S.M.A.S.H. Little was revealed about the series aside from the title, the team roster (Green Hulk, Red Hulk, She-Hulk and A-Bomb), and this promo image: Unfortunately, no other details are available (such as the premiere date, whether or not it'll be tied to other TV shows, etc.). But we'll post new info when it comes. Are you
