

Highlights from the panel are many, but most is humorous quotes and quips from the cast etc. Any info on further seasons is pretty much limited to the following. Apparently by season 3 the show will begin to deviate from the books.. What can we expect from the second season? Benioff replies, "Everyone dies, sorry." Weiss answers, "It was all a dream." Benioff says that Season Three will be when things may need to start deviating from the books. He still doesn't know if Book 3 will be one season or one-and-a-half. They're building to a big scene in "Storm of Swords" -- R.W. in specific -- and that's what they want to get up to. "I think we're going to get to R.W. and if that happens, I can retire," Benioff says. R.W stands for "Red Wedding". I won't spoil what that is for those who haven't read the books.
