

Comic Book Resources caught up with Shane Black at Long Beach Comic Con this past weekend and managed to get some very interesting pieces of information out of him, including whether or not he'd be willing to adapt the classic story line, "Demon In A Bottle" for the movie. Below are a few excerpts from the interview, but be sure to click on the link below to read it in full. On How His Grounded And Realistic Vision Will Effect Iron Man 3: I think the approach is not just a visual or cinema-graphic approach. Iron Man is a different type of property, in a way, because Robert Downy is a different type of actor, number one. If you look at the first "Iron Man," the events of the story feels like the crossover between what's in a comic book and what's in real life. There's always been the tendency to make Iron

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=49159&t=Shane Black Talks More About ilron Man 3i And Chances Of Adapting Demon In A Bottle