

Ok, I'm gonna give the edge to Hardy on this one. But it's unclear exactly who came out better in a tussle between the two actors on the set of their latest movie.. The Transformers star admits he struggled to bond with Inception actor Hardy while shooting the upcoming Depression-era crime drama and tensions came to a head one day when they became embroiled in a backstage brawl. LaBeouf claims the tussle was a one-off and Hardy "never did that roughhouse stuff with me again". LaBeouf seems determined to paint a picture of himself as a guy who can't keep his mouth shut. Bad news for his colleagues, good news for us! He goes on to elaborate as to what brought on the fisticuffs. Apparently it was Hardy and colleague Jason Clarke boasting about their expensive cars that made LaBeouf see red. The multi millionaire hates all that materialistic stuff see. And found himself
