

You may remember a while back newly signed Preacher director D.J. Caruso name dropped Shia LaBeouf as the actor he would most like to play Arseface, the troubled teen who tries to kill himself with a shotgun but ends up leaving his face looking like, well, an arse. While chatting to MTV LaBeouf expresses interest in the role, and also reveals that he has seen a few pages of the work in progress script.. "I love the ['Preacher'] comics, I think Arseface would be awesome." "I'm still a hired gun, I don't know what I'm going to do next." "He's(screen writer John August) got a couple of pages he sent, but no full script yet," Well Preacher fans, what would you think of LaBeouf as Arseface? I would be ok with it myself. It's not a huge role and he would be unrecognizable anyway. I am more concerned about Caruso claiming that he wants I
