

Every so often SNL actually has a funny sketch, and this one nailed what most fans and critics of the show have been thinking for quite some time, there is an excessive amount of nudity in the show. Now, I have no problem with nudity, as long it's not my naked body on display. Toss in some of the most elaborate death scenes I ever witnessed and you have a recipe for success. I say keep up the good work HBO.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/nailbiter111/news/?a=58020>