

The supposed teaser trailer for The Dark Knight Rises was met with a lot of scepticism when a bootleg version found its way online a few days ago. Many thought it was a fantastic tease for the highly anticipated movie from director Christopher Nolan, while equally as many decided it was a fake. The fact that it didn't play in any US theatres over the weekend and wasn't removed by Warner Bros. seemed to indicate it was a fake, but the truth was still unknown. Well, YouTube's "PrettyMuchIt" has done some digging and found some downright solid evidence that it is indeed far from official. So there you have it! I think it's pretty fair to say that is pretty conclusive! Either way, I think it's fair to say that the hoaxer did an impressive job of fooling us all...just not that good! Be sure to share your thoughts on this

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=39858&t=Solid Evidence That The Teaser For iThe Dark Knight Risesi Was Indeed A FAKE