

Recently, we had the announcement that a Hawkman film was being scripted at Warner Bros., joining fellow DC characters Batman, Superman, and Green Lantern on a trip to the big screen (as well as plans for Wonder Woman and Flash films, among others). Bleeding Cool now has some details surrounding the project, comparing it to Indiana Jones and The Da Vinci Code, as well as talking about the weapons the character uses and briefly about a possible love interest. Part INDIANA JONES/DA VINCI CODE, part GHOST tentpole about the fictional superhero that appears in D.C. Comic books. He used archaic weaponry and large, artificial wings attached to a harness made of the Nth metal that allows flight. Most incarnations of Hawkman work closely with a partner/romantic interest named Hawkgirl or Hawkwoman in his fight against supervillains. Based on the DC comic. So do you guys like the idea of a Hawkman film? Sound

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=38342&t=Some_IHawkmani_Movie_Details_Revealed