

We knew that it was on the way, but the video below finally confirms that our first look at Alien: Covenant is coming TOMORROW! There's not much in the trailer teaser, but we do see something hatching from a very familiar looking egg, and this clearly a reference to the anticipated return of the Xenomorphs! After the mixed reaction to Prometheus and Alien 5's delay, it's up to this film to deliver. A brief synopsis for the highly anticipated movie was also revealed last year, and it teases: "Bound for a remote planet on the far side of the galaxy, the crew of the colony ship Covenant discovers what they think is an uncharted paradise, but is actually a dark, dangerous world — whose sole inhabitant is the 'synthetic' David (Michael Fassbender), survivor of the doomed Prometheus expedition." The cast of Alien: Covenant also includes Katherine Waterston, Danny McBride, Demián Bichir, Billy Crudup, Noomi Rapace, and Guy Pearce, and as you can see below, it will
