

Those that signed up and submitted photos to Webbedmenace.com have received the below poster in the mail.. Now any Spidey fan will know that in his original origin story, he takes part in a wrestling match to use his new found powers to earn some cash. But director Mark Webb previously suggested that this wouldn't be the case in his upcoming reboot. So what's with the poster? Well it certainly doesn't confirm that we will see Spidey in the ring, but it is strange that it's being used as part of the viral campaign if it has absolutely no ties to the movie's plot. What do you guys think? The boxing gym mentioned on the poster, Jereras, has it's own website which you can visit by clicking HERE. Might be worth keeping an eye on for more clues. The Amazing Spider-Man is the story of Peter Parker (Garfield), an outcast high schooler

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=59289>