

As many of you predicted, Julian Albert is indeed Dr. Alchemy in The Flash. However, The CW series threw a couple of very interesting twists our way tonight as we learned that he's serving Savitar - the God of Speed - but doing so somewhat reluctantly. One of the comic book versions of Alchemy had a split personality, so it appears as if the show may be following a similar path here as he alternates between the law abiding CSI and being the villain intent on restoring people to their Flashpoint selves. With the crossover taking place next week, we're probably going to have to wait a while before we learn more about Alchemy, but The Flash will hopefully give Tom Felton more to do than just playing another bad guy. So far, Julian has been a pretty interesting character anyway (despite being a massive tool), and Alchemy is definitely an intriguing foe for the Fastest Man Alive. What did you guys
