

In last night's episode of The Flash, Barry learned just how much of an impact his actions in the season two finale had on the lives of his friends and family. Cisco's (who is now closer than ever to becoming Vibe) brother is dead after being killed by a drunk driver, Caitlin somehow has Killer Frost's powers, Iris and Joe no longer talk because he didn't tell her that her mother was alive, and Barry and Iris never kissed. Some of that was fixed by the end of the episode, but one big change can't be made right. After checking in with Felicity, Barry learned that everything is pretty much the same in the lives of Team Arrow. Well, other than the fact that baby Sara has now been wiped out of existence! In her place is a young boy called John Diggle Jr., and those of you who watch Legends of Tomorrow will know that we met him as an

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/dc_tv/the_flash/spoilers-last-nights-episode-of-the-flash-revealed-a-major-a145926