

Talking to Digital Spy at the Nickelodeon Kids' Choice Awards this past weekend, the legendary comic book creator told the site that he's confident that the star of The Social Network and Never Let Me Go will be "absolutely great" as the Amazing Spider-Man. "It's great that we have a London actor. I think the more actors that we use from away in other countries is brilliant, because we are one world and we've got to stick up for that." He also joked that his cameo in Thor will be one of his best, and most impressive yet. "I've done that [cameo] already and like all the others it is magnificent. It's the high spot of the movie. I'm a little sorry about these cameos because people are so affected by them and influenced by them they don't notice what else is going on in the movie. I'm so sorry for Anthony Hopkins and

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=34578&t=Stan_Lee_Reveals_What_He_Thinks_About_A_British_Actor_Playing_Spider-Man