Via his Twitter, the legendary comic book writer has revealed that he will be doing the cameo scene for the new Spider-Man film: "My pal Avi Arad, producer of the new Spider-Man movie, called to tell me how excited he is about the film. Then came the surprise — Avi told me my cameo is all set for Spidey 4, and when he described it, I realized it's the best, most unusual one yet!" "I wish I could tell you what my cameo is, but that would kill the surprise. But I'll tell you this much—I'm finally in an action scene! Since it's common knowledge that people go to the movies just to see my cameos, I don't know why EVERY movie doesn't have one for me. After we save the world, our next mission will be to convince Hollywood to have an Oscar for Best Cameo. Till then—Excelsior!" It's great to see Stan
