

Last year saw the launch of Kapow! Comic Con and next year sees not only the return of that event, but also the first ever London Super Comic Convention. Needless to say, it's a very good time for comic book fans living in the UK who have spent years dreaming of the opportunity to get even a small taste of the San Diego Comic Con experience. So, if the chance to meet the creator of such characters as the Avengers, Fantastic Four and Spider-Man sounds appealing, the London Super Comic Convention has some very good news for you. Stan Lee, legendary comic book creator best known as the man who created the Marvel Universe, will be the headline guest at The London Super Comic Convention 2012 - his first comic convention in the UK for nearly 40 years. Organisers of The London Super Comic Convention 2012 are going all out to make the
