

While it's far from confirmed, a recent report does seem to suggest that we may be getting a Guardians-sized treat from Marvel Studios at the Super Bowl, so keep your eyes peeled over the next week or so for any new information regarding any sort of Big Game TV spot for James Gunn's Guardians of the Galaxy, Vol. 2. In the meantime, we've just received this awesome color decal, courtesy of Trends International, featuring an all-new look at all five of the Guardians you know and love. Pictured are Chris Pratt (Star-Lord), Zoe Saldaña (Gamora), Dave Bautista (Drax the Destroyer), Rocket Raccoon (voiced by Bradley Cooper), and Baby Groot (voiced by Vin Diesel). Check it out below:  Plus, here's some concept art from the first film:  This was an early design I concept illustrated for the Nova Corp in the 1st #GuardiansoftheGalaxy movie. It was an amazing time trying to come up with the look & feel of this totally new franchise in the Marvel Cinematic
