

The talent agency that represents the child actor, Anjini Azhar (pictured below) posted a bunch of behind-the-scenes pictures of the actress posing with cast and crew of the film. Several Star Trek fansites discovered them and they quickly spread throughout the internet. The most interesting of the images can be seen below and it features two members of the cast in brand new Starfleet uniforms. To check out more images and to find out more information please visit TrekMovie.com. Azhar with Pegg (L) and Yelchin (R) with their new Starfleet uniforms While in other news Collider spoke with screenwriter Damon Lindelof about the Star Trek sequel and he boasts about the performances of Alice Eve (Men In Black 3) and Benedict Cumberbatch (BBC's Sherlock). He also goes into depth about the improvements to the new set. "It was incredible, and I think that Trek 2—there's certainly an instinct to just go bigger in the

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/nailbiter111/news/?a=60824>